

FTVA Value Statement:

Many Air Force senior leaders, including the Chief of Staff, General David Goldfein, the Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force, Kalet Wright, the incoming new Chief of Staff, General Charles Brown, and others have recently released statements that should resonate with every member of the Freedom Through Vigilance Association (FTVA). They stated, "It is time for every one of us to strive for understanding and a culture of inclusiveness and belonging across our Air Force, and "It is our very own General Benjamin O. Davis, Tuskegee Airman, who said, 'The privileges of being an American belong to those brave enough to fight for them'." These sentiments were recently echoed by the Space Force Commander, General Jay Raymond, and Senior Enlisted Adviser, Chief Master Sergeant Roger Towberman (former Airborne Mission Supervisor), who said, "We have an opportunity to get this right from the beginning by making diversity and inclusion 'one of the bedrock strengths" of the Space Force. And our 16th Air Force Commander, Lt General Timothy Haugh and Command Chief, Summer Leifer, have both implored NAF members to embrace diversity, challenge our own biases, and treat everyone with dignity and respect.

Since the formation of the USAF Security Service (USAFSS) in October 1948, and in its various iterations since then to the present 16th Air Force, we recognize that the one constant and bedrock strength of our organization is the people. Throughout the years, our leaders have understood that if we take care of the people, the people will take care of the mission. Our people are as diverse as the missions we support. Yet, despite these differences, we train and fight as one. We value and understand the importance of respect and dignity for all, regardless of ethnic background, religion, gender, and/or sexual orientation.

The FTVA reaffirms our commitment to our country and the people we serve. Now is the time for reflection and listening to those that may not have had a voice at the table. Those voices need to be heard and be part of this national debate. We, as an organization, understand the sacrifices that have been made so that all Americans can enjoy the benefits of liberty, freedom and justice for all. These benefits must encompass all Americans for we are greater in strength unified than in division. The FTVA thanks all who have served and sacrificed through the years and remains committed to the values we hold dear of dignity and respect for all, duty well performed, honor in all things, and country above self!

Remain in Touch,

Evan V. Smith, President FTVA
